 5 23, for class certification as follows:

 7 1. Certification of the following classes:

- 8 a. All current and former non-exempt employees, employed by 9 Defendants as Pharmacists in the State of California, who took the 10 Wal-Mart sponsored APhA Immunization Certification Training 11 Course (the “Training Course”) during their employment, within 12 four years of the filing of the original complaint until the date of 13 judgment, and who were not paid any wages for the home study 14 and test portions of the Training Course (the “Training Course 15 Class”).
- 16 b. All current and former non-exempt employees, employed by 17 Defendants as Pharmacists in the State of California, who did not 18 take a 10-minute rest break during the first 4 hours of their shift, or 19 a second 10-minute rest break for all shifts of 6-10 hours, when 20 they were scheduled to be the only Pharmacist on duty at any time 21 during their shift, within four years before the filing of the original 22 complaint until the date of judgment (the “Rest Break Class”).
- 23 c. All current and former non-exempt employees, employed by 24 Defendants as Pharmacists within the State of California, who are 25 members of the Training Course Class and/or the Rest Break Class, 26 and as a result of the claims alleged herein, were not provided with 27 accurate, itemized wage statements as required by California Labor 28 Code §226, within one year before the filing of the original Complaint until the date of judgment (“Wage Statement Class”).
- d. All former non-exempt employees, employed by Defendants as Pharmacists in the State of California, who are members of either the Training Course Class and/or the Rest Break Class, and as a result of the claims alleged herein, were not paid all wages due and owing at the time of their separation as required by California

1 Labor Code §§201-203, within three years from the filing of the 2 original Complaint until the date of judgment (“Waiting Time
3 Class”).

4 e. Plaintiffs also seek to certify a class under California’s Unfair 5 Competition Law (Bus. & Prof. Code §§17200, et seq.).

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. Introduction

This is a wage and hour class action suit brought on behalf of current and former nonexempt Pharmacist employees of Wal-Mart who worked in California during the relevant Statute of Limitations period.¹ The proposed classes to be certified pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(a) are defined as follows:

- a. All current and former non-exempt employees, employed by Defendants as Pharmacists in the State of California, who took the Wal-Mart sponsored APhA Immunization Certification Training Course (the “Training Course”) during their employment, within four years of the filing of the original complaint until the date of judgment, and who were not paid any wages for the home study and test portions of the Training Course (the “Training Course Class”).
- b. All current and former non-exempt employees, employed by Defendants as Pharmacists in the State of California, who did not take a 10-minute rest break during the first 4 hours of their shift, or a second 10-minute rest break for all shifts of 6-10 hours, when they were scheduled to be the only Pharmacist on duty at any time during their shift, within four years before the filing of the original complaint until the date of judgment (the “Rest Break Class”).
- c. All current and former non-exempt employees, employed by Defendants as Pharmacists within the State of California, who are members of the Training Course Class and/or the Rest Break Class, and as a result of the claims alleged herein, were not provided with accurate, itemized wage statements as required by California Labor Code §226, within one year before the filing of the original Complaint until the date of judgment. (“Wage Statement Class”).
- d. All former non-exempt employees, employed by Defendants as Pharmacists in the State of California, who are members of either the Training Course Class and/or the Rest Break Class, and as a result of the claims alleged herein, were not paid all wages due and owing at the time of their separation as required by California Labor Code §§201-203, within three years from the filing of the original Complaint until the date of judgment (“Waiting Time Class”).

Plaintiffs also seek to certify a class under California’s Unfair Competition Law (Bus. & Prof. Code §§17200, et seq.). The UCL permits violations of other laws to serve as per se violations of the UCL. McKell v. Washington Mut. Inc., 142 Cal. App. 4th, 1457 at 1474-75; Steroid Hormone Product Cases, 181 Cal. App. 4th 145, 155 (2010). The UCL Class, Waiting Time Class and Wage Statement Class are derivative of the claims of the Training Course Class and Rest Break Class. As such, they should be certified for the same reasons set forth herein. Alonzo v. Maximus, Inc., 275 F.R.D. 513, 513 (C.D.Cal., June 27, 2011); Arredondo v. Delano Farms Co., 301 F.R.D. 493, 547 (E.D.Cal., Feb. 21, 2014).

All Classes are comprised of non-exempt Pharmacist employees who worked for Wal-Mart in its California stores during the relevant period.² Plaintiffs and the Putative Class Member Declarations represent Pharmacists who worked in approximately 88 of the 310 Wal-Mart stores in California.³

³ Epstein Dec., ¶2 Ex : P001910-1912: Relevant excerpts from Wal-Mart’s 2016 Annual Report.

1 Plaintiffs' Training Course claims are based on allegations that Wal-Mart 2 required Plaintiffs and putative class members to attend and complete a Wal-Mart
 3 sponsored APhA Immunization Certification Training Course (the "Training 4 Course") so that Wal-Mart could provide immunization services to its customers, 5 keep up with the competition and increase its revenues and profits.⁴ Wal-Mart 6 made a company-wide business decision to not pay Plaintiffs and putative class 7 members for time spent performing necessary work on the home study (sometimes 8 referred to as the "self study") and test portions of the Training Course.⁵ The 9 Training Course was not voluntary, it was directly related to their job as 10 Pharmacists, and Wal-Mart was required by law to pay for the entire Training 11 Course, including the home study and test portions. Plaintiffs' allege Wal-Mart 12 failed to pay Training Course Class Members minimum and overtime pay pursuant 13 to California law.

14 Plaintiffs also allege that Wal-Mart's common policies and practices relating 15 to pharmacy operations discouraged and prevented Plaintiffs and putative class 16 members from taking mandated rest breaks. Wal-Mart has a common written rest 17 break policy applicable to all California stores and pharmacies.⁶ Wal-Mart 18 scheduled Pharmacists to work weekends, as well as significant portions of their 19 shifts during weekdays, as the only Pharmacist on duty.⁷ When there was only a 20 single Pharmacist on duty, the following company-wide policies of Wal-Mart 21 prevented or discouraged the Pharmacist from taking a rest break:

 ("Piotrowski Depo."), 17:15-20, 49:9-20, 105:11-24, 167:3-8; Compendium, ¶9.

 Depo., 167:24-168:5; ¶9, Ex. 8: Deposition of Scott Voight ("Voight Depo."), 191:20-192:9; ¶ Ex. 24 [filed under 26 seal]; ¶ Ex. 36 Chung Depo. [filed under seal], 150:12-20.

27 ⁶ Plaintiffs' Second Amended Complaint ("SAC"), Ex. 9: Docket No. 25-1, pp. 42-44; Epstein Dec., ¶44, Ex. 42.

28 ⁷ The Rest Period Class only includes claims when there was only one Pharmacist on duty Even for some Pharmacies when Wal-Mart scheduled two Pharmacists during the week, each shift was for only 8 hours (in order to avoid paying overtime) and since the Pharmacy was open for 12 hours, there was a 3½-4 hour time period when there was only one Pharmacist on duty-Compendium, ¶17.

1 1. The Pharmacist was prohibited from leaving the Pharmacy unattended 2 without first “securing” the Pharmacy.⁸ Securing the pharmacy involved a series 3 of mandated steps, which took an average of 10-15 minutes to complete, including, 4 notifying customers in line that the Pharmacy would be closing, securing the drugs, 5 re-locating the Will Call Bin to the inside of the prescription filling area, insuring 6 that all other Pharmacy employees leave the Pharmacy, closing and locking all 7 Pharmacy windows and doors, insuring the prescription filling area lights remain 8 on, redirecting the phone to voicemail, and setting the alarm.⁹ Re-opening the 9 Pharmacy took approximately another 5-10 minutes.¹⁰ A Pharmacist was 10 discouraged from closing down the Pharmacy for 30 minutes to take a 10 minute 11 break because it would impact customer service and adversely affect the 12 Pharmacist’s ability to meet other Wal-Mart metrics as set forth below. It should 13 also be noted that prohibiting the Pharmacists from leaving the Pharmacy 14 unattended without first “securing it”, is not required by law, but is simply a Wal-15 Mart policy which is actually inconsistent with California law. (See Business & 16 Professions Code, Sections 4115(g) and 4116(b)(2) which specifically permit a 17 Pharmacist to leave the Pharmacy unattended for lunch and rest breaks without 18 having to secure the Pharmacy. (For example, by leaving a pharmacy technician in 19 charge.)

20 2. Wal-Mart required all Pharmacists to set the pharmacy alarm when 21 they closed the pharmacy, thereby generating a data “trail” to ascertain if and when 22 the pharmacy was closed.¹¹

3. Pharmacists were discouraged from closing down the pharmacy for rest breaks.¹² However, a Pharmacist could not take an uninterrupted rest break inside the Pharmacy because pursuant to Wal-Mart policy the Pharmacist is responsible for preventing drug diversion and controlling access to the Pharmacy.¹³ Therefore, the Pharmacist is “on duty” if he or she is inside the Pharmacy taking a “break” because he/she must still monitor the Pharmacy and employees to prevent drug diversion and control unauthorized access to the Pharmacy.¹⁴ This is the same “on duty” rest break issue now pending before the California Supreme Court in Augustus v. ABM Security Services, Inc., 233 Cal.App.4th 1065 (Dec. 31, 2015), review granted, April 29, 2015.

4. Wal-Mart evaluated the performance of Pharmacists, in part, based on their ability to fill in-store prescriptions within 20 minutes of receipt and receive high marks on customer survey responses.¹⁵ Taking a rest break would jeopardize this metric.

The combination of the above common policies and practices resulted in a failure to make available one if not more mandated rest breaks during the Pharmacists’ shifts because they worked in concert to discourage and/or prevent the Pharmacists from taking rest breaks.

II. The Training Course Was Sponsored by Wal-Mart So Its Pharmacists Could Administer Immunizations

In order to compete with other chain pharmacies such as CVS and Walgreens and to increase revenues and profits, Wal-Mart decided it wanted to 7 The Home Study portion of the Training Course was required in order to 10 Wal-Mart's decision to make immunization certification a "minimum" job

 12 to clearly communicate to its Pharmacists that the Training Course was required.²⁸ 13 Plaintiffs and Training Course Members were threatened with adverse 14 consequences to their work hours and performance reviews if they did not 15 complete the Training Course.²⁹ During conference calls, Wal-Mart District 16 Managers would apply additional pressure on Plaintiffs and Training Course Class 17 Members to complete the Training Course in order to increase the pharmacy profits 18 for Wal-Mart and would call out those who had not completed the Training Course

1 in front of their peers.³⁰ Pharmacists who resisted taking the Training Course were 2 dealt with “carefully”.³¹ Wal-Mart made it clear their intention was to have every 3 store nationwide, including in California, providing immunizations by certified 4 Pharmacists by the end of 2014.³² Wal-Mart provided to each store standard 5 operating procedures (“SOP”) for each pharmacy setting forth in detail the 6 procedures to be followed.³³ Wal-Mart only issues SOP directives for tasks that are 7 mandatory.³⁴ Wal-Mart’s claim that the Training Course was “voluntary” is 8 simply not credible. The message to Pharmacists was received loud and clear: take 9 the Training Course or face consequences. Indeed, Wal-Mart’s decision to make 10 immunization certification a preferred qualification in 2014 and then a minimum 11 qualification in 2015 confirms that Wal-Mart always intended to have Pharmacists 12 be certified to administer immunizations to Wal-Mart customers.

13 B. The Training Course Is Directly Related To The Pharmacists’ Job

14 The Training Course at issue here was not for the benefit of the employee.
 15 Instead, it was for the benefit of Wal-Mart to offer an additional pharmacy services

 17 incorporated into the general job duties of its Pharmacist employees the duty of 18 providing immunization shots to Wal-Mart customers and provided standard immunizations.³⁷ Wal-Mart requires all of its newly hired Pharmacists to be immunization certified.³⁸ In calls with Wal-Mart District Managers Pharmacists were given goals and contests to increase the number of immunizations, indicating it was part of their job duties.³⁹ This evidence establishes that the Training Course is directly related to the job duty of Pharmacists to administer immunizations to Wal-Mart customers. The Court has already found in its Order Granting Conditional Certification that the Training Course was directly related to the Pharmacists' job and it rejected Wal-Mart's argument that the Training Course was for the benefit of the employee. (Doc. 71, p. 6.)

III. Wal-Mart Failed to Make Available Mandated Rest Breaks

Wal-Mart maintains "on paper" a common written rest break policy applicable to all non-exempt employees in California, including Pharmacists.⁴⁰ This rest break policy, "on its face", provides that employees are to receive a 15 minute, uninterrupted rest break for every 3 hours worked.⁴¹ Conditions placed by Wal-Mart on rest breaks are as follows: (1) rest breaks may not be attached or combined with a meal period or other rest break; (2) rest breaks may not be taken at the beginning or end of shifts, and; (3) rest breaks should be scheduled in the middle of each three hour period worked.⁴² While Wal-Mart's policies make clear that failure to take a rest break may result in disciplinary action, including termination, Wal-Mart's common policies do not provide for premium pay for missed rest breaks as required by California law.⁴³ Saechao v. Landry's, Inc., 2016 WL 1029479 *5-6 (N.D.Cal., Mar. 15, 2016).

⁴³ Id.

1 While the rest break policy appears to be lawful, in reality, Wal-Mart 2 imposes on its Pharmacists a series of policies and practices that act as a barrier 3 preventing and discouraging Plaintiffs and Rest Break Class Members from being 4 able to take most, if not all, of their rest breaks. These common policies, 5 applicable to all Pharmacist employees include Wal-Mart's Pharmacy security 6 policies, staffing policies, and prescription quotas.

7 A. Wal-Mart Prohibits the Pharmacy to Be Left Unattended by a 8 Pharmacist Without First Securing the Pharmacy

9 Wal-Mart has a policy which emphasizes pharmacy security called "POM 10 902".⁴⁴ Security protocols in said policy make clear that the Pharmacist on duty is 11 responsible for the security of the pharmacy at all times, even during breaks.⁴⁵
 12 Wal-Mart had a strict policy that a Pharmacist could not leave the pharmacy 13 unattended without securing the Pharmacy and violation of this policy is grounds 14 for termination.⁴⁶ This policy of prohibiting the pharmacy from being left 15 unattended by a Pharmacist applies even during rest and meal breaks, in order to 16 prevent unauthorized access to prescription medications and prevent diversion 17 (theft).⁴⁷ Wal-Mart's policy specifically prohibits: "...leaving the pharmacy 18 unsecured when no Pharmacist is present including at lunch, during breaks, or after 19 business hours."⁴⁸ If a Pharmacist leaves the pharmacy unattended (by a 20 Pharmacist), the Pharmacist is required to, inter alia, tell customers in line the 21 Pharmacy is closing, relocate the Will Call Bin to the inside of the prescription 22 filling area, instruct non-Pharmacist employees to exit, shut down the computer 23 system, secure all drugs, put the phone on voicemail, close and lock all pharmacy windows and doors, and set the alarm.⁴⁹ This process can take 10-15 minutes to close down the pharmacy and another 5-10 minutes to re-open the pharmacy.⁵⁰ While Pharmacists were permitted to close down the pharmacy for 30 minute meal periods and were even provided a sign to notify customers of their absence, Pharmacists' managers actively discouraged Plaintiffs and Rest Break Class Members from closing the pharmacy for rest breaks.⁵¹ Wal-Mart offered to permit Pharmacists to take their rest breaks within the pharmacy, but that was impossible to do without being interrupted with work duties. Any rest break inside the Pharmacy could not be an uninterrupted rest break because the Pharmacist was still required to watch the pharmacy to prevent drug theft and control access.⁵²

Wal-Mart also discouraged and impeded Pharmacists from shutting down the pharmacy for rest breaks so that customer service would not be interrupted. In response to a complaint from Plaintiff Spentzos, the Senior Director of the Health and Wellness Division, Warren Moore, who had overall responsibility for all the Pharmacies in the Western portion of the United States, made clear there was an effort by Wal-Mart to "...minimize the number of times (if any) we close the pharmacy throughout the day."⁵³ The concern was disrupting the flow and service of customers which could lead to a loss of business and could negatively impact Market Director performance reviews.⁵⁴ Other Pharmacists report the same active discouragement by Wal-Mart management which resulted in Pharmacists being

1 forced to forego their rest breaks when they were the only Pharmacist present.⁵⁵
 2 This is only one of Wal-Mart's policies that contradicts its written rest break policy 3 and prevented or discouraged Pharmacists from taking rest breaks.

4 B. Wal-Mart Frequently Scheduled Only One Pharmacist For 5 Significant Periods of the Workday and On Weekends Which 6 Prevented that Pharmacist from Taking Rest Breaks

7 Wal-Mart's scheduling of Pharmacists resulted in only one Pharmacist 8 working the entire day on the weekends, only one Pharmacist working the entire 9 day on weekdays in those Pharmacies which were not considered "busy enough" to 10 warrant two Pharmacists being scheduled, and working alone for much of their 11 shift on the weekdays even in those Pharmacies where two Pharmacists were 12 scheduled.⁵⁶ When only one Pharmacist was working it meant there was no one to 13 relieve them for rest breaks.⁵⁷ Wal-Mart staggered the shifts of Pharmacists on the 14 weekdays in those Pharmacies where two Pharmacists were scheduled. During the 15 first 3 ½ to 4 hours of the day, there would be only one Pharmacist on duty.⁵⁸ 16 When only one Pharmacist was on duty he/she was prevented from taking a rest 17 break because Wal-Mart required them to shut down the pharmacy completely if 18 they wanted to leave the Pharmacy to take a rest break and also required them to 19 minimize the number of times (if any) the pharmacy was closed to prevent 20 disruption in customer service.⁵⁹ Even when the shifts were staggered, the 21 Pharmacist would be prevented from taking their first rest break because the other 22 Pharmacist came on duty just before the required meal break and Pharmacists were 23 prevented from combining meal and rest breaks.⁶⁰

1 This staffing policy, along with the requirements that Pharmacists not leave 2 the pharmacy unattended, minimize the closing of the pharmacy throughout the 3 day, and the requirement that it is the Pharmacist's responsibility to monitor the 4 Pharmacy to prevent drug theft and control access (which precluded a rest break 5 inside the Pharmacy uninterrupted by work) all combined to prevent or discourage 6 Pharmacists from taking rest breaks.

7 C. Wal-Mart's Performance Evaluation of Pharmacists, Quotas and 8 Prescription Fill Time Requirements

9 In addition to the above policies, Wal-Mart imposed minimum performance 10 criteria upon which Pharmacists and Market Directors (supervisors) are 11 evaluated.⁶¹ One criterion is that in-store prescriptions (those not called in by a 12 physician) had to be filled within 20 minutes.⁶² Wal-Mart has the ability to track 13 when the prescription is received and when it is filled.⁶³ Wal-Mart also solicits 14 customer surveys and the responses are used in the performance evaluation of 15 Pharmacists and other Wal-Mart employees.⁶⁴ A Pharmacist must be present in 16 order to check out a prescription.⁶⁵ If pharmacy customers are kept waiting to fill 17 or check out prescriptions while a Pharmacist is on a rest break, the Pharmacist 18 risks a poor performance review which could jeopardize their job and negatively 19 impact their pay and career at Wal-Mart.⁶⁶ The negative impact was also felt by the 20 Market Directors who would turn up the pressure even more on the Pharmacists to 21 perform.⁶⁷

D. Plaintiffs and Putative Class Members Were Not Able to Take Rest Breaks

Plaintiffs have submitted declarations from putative class members representing 88 of an estimated 310 Wal-Mart Stores in California.⁶⁸ Plaintiffs and Rest Break Class Members submit testimony that the above-referenced Wal-Mart policies prevented and discouraged their ability to take rest breaks, which resulted in Plaintiffs and the Rest Break Class Members missing most, if not virtually all of their rest breaks.⁶⁹ Plaintiffs and Rest Break Class Members were prevented from taking their rest breaks inside the pharmacy because Wal-Mart required the Pharmacists to monitor the Pharmacy all at times the Pharmacy was open in order to prevent drug diversion and control access to the Pharmacy.⁷⁰ This makes any “rest break” inside the Pharmacy an “on duty” rest break which is non-compliant since it is not uninterrupted by work.

IV. Standards for Certification Under Rule 23(a)

A class must satisfy four prerequisites under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(a): (1) numerosity of parties; (2) questions of law or fact common to the class; (3) the named parties’ claims are typical of the class; and (4) the class representatives can adequately protect the interests of the class. Hanlon v. Chrysler, 150 F.3d 1011, 1019 (9th Cir. 1998).

In addition to the four Rule 23(a) requirements, Plaintiff must also satisfy one of three subsections under Rule 23(b)(3). Plaintiffs seeks to certify a class under Rule 23(b)(3) which requires the court find questions of law or fact common to the class predominate over individual issues and that a class action is superior to other available methods for adjudicating the matter. Fed.R.Civ.P. 23(b)(3).

⁶⁹ Nikmanesh Dec., ¶6; Spentzos Dec., ¶5; Atencio Dec., ¶¶7(D), 8; Compendium, ¶23.

⁷⁰ “POM” stands for “Pharmacy Operations Manual”: Epstein Dec., ¶7, Ex. 6; Moore Depo., 107:3-21; ¶31, Ex. 29 [Under Seal]; ¶35, Ex. 33 [under seal]; WM000009-16 [POM 902]; ¶45, Ex. 43; Deposition of Alfred Rodriguez (PMK), 20:10-20:19; Nikmanesh Dec., ¶5(f); Anna Nguyen Dec., ¶5(g); Spentzos Dec., ¶4(g); Atencio Dec., ¶7(G); Compendium, ¶22.

1 A. Numerosity

2 Rule 23(a)(1) requires a class be “so numerous that joinder of all members is 3 impracticable.” Fed.R.Civ.P. 23(a)(1). In making a determination of whether a 4 class is sufficiently numerous to support certification, the Court may consider 5 reasonable inferences drawn from the facts before it. In re Yahoo Mail Litig., 308 6 F.R.D. 577, 589-90 (N.D.Cal., May 26, 2015). Even a class containing as little as 7 40 potential class members satisfies numerosity. Avilez v. B Gov’t Servs., 286 8 F.R.D. 450, 456 (C.D.Cal.2012).

9 Pursuant to discovery in this matter, Plaintiffs have obtained a list of 1,251 10 current and former non-exempt Pharmacist employees of Wal-Mart who worked in 11 California during the relevant period identified from Wal-Mart’s records.⁷¹
12 Furthermore, approximately 100 Pharmacists employed by Wal-Mart in California 13 opted in to the FLSA Class and are eligible Training Course Class Members, 14 approximately 40 Putative Training Course Class members have submitted 15 Declarations that they have taken the Training Course, and Scott Voigt the 16 Regional Manager for Small Markets in Southern California, with responsibility 17 for approximately 123 stores and 300 Pharmacists, testified that only 12 or less 18 Pharmacists are not immunization certified.⁷² (Of course these 12 Pharmacists will 19 have to become immunization certified or they will be terminated since 20 certification is a minimum qualification.) Extrapolating out the 40 Declarants who 21 have taken the Training Course out of 66 Declarants to the entire putative Training 22 Course Class, would result in approximately 763 putative Training Course Class 23 Members having taken the Training Course.

24 B. Commonality Is Met

25 “A class has sufficient commonality ‘if there are questions of law and fact 26 which are common to the class.” Hanlon v. Chrysler Corp., 150 F.3d 1101, 1019 27

28 ⁷¹ Epstein Dec., ¶12, , Ex. 11.

⁷² Epstein Dec., ¶9, Ex. 8; Voigt Depo 197: 14-22; ¶40, Ex. 38; Voigt Depo. [under seal], 198: 5-199: 16.

(9th Cir.1998) (quoting Fed.R.Civ.P. 23(a)(2)). “All questions of fact and law need not be common to satisfy this rule. The existence of shared legal issues with divergent factual predicates is sufficient, as is a common core of salient facts coupled with disparate legal remedies within the class.” Id. See also Hamidi v. SEIU Local 1000, No. 2:14-319 WBS KJN, 2015 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 67419, at *8 (E.D. Cal. May 22, 2015).

Here, there are common questions of law and fact as to both classes:

1. Training Course Class: Common questions of fact and law that apply to the Training Course Class are: (i) whether Wal-Mart was required to pay minimum wage and/or overtime wages to Plaintiff and putative class members for the Home Study portion of the Training Course. Wal-Mart contends it did not require Pharmacists to become immunization certified and therefore their attendance at the Training Course was voluntary. Whether or not attendance at the Training Course was voluntary is a common question that can be determined on a class-wide basis.

Moreover, even if the Training Course was voluntary (which it was not) it is still compensable if it is directly related to the Class Members’ jobs as Pharmacists. It is thus a common question of whether taking the Training Course to become immunization certified is directly related to the Pharmacists’ job.⁷³

2. Rest Periods: Common questions applicable to the Rest Break Class include: (i) whether Wal-Mart’s competing policies discouraged and/or prevented Rest Break Class Members from taking rest breaks; and (ii) whether or not a rest break must be duty free. That common issue is now pending before the California Supreme Court. In Augustus, supra, the lower court granted certification to a class of security guard employees who were required to be “on-call” during their rest breaks. The Appellate Court reversed the lower court’s certification order finding that “on call” rest breaks are permissible. Id. at 1082.⁷⁴ Wal-Mart is likely to argue that if it required a Pharmacist to remain in the pharmacy for rest breaks, it does not constitute a rest break violation, even though the Pharmacist is “on duty”, not just “on call”. The Augustus case will resolve that common issue because if it finds that “on call” rest breaks constitute a rest break violation, then certainly “on duty” rest breaks will also constitute a violation.

C. Typicality is Fulfilled

Typicality is met where the claims or defenses of the representative plaintiffs are typical of the claims or defenses of the class. Fed.R.Civ.P. 23(a)(3). Typicality is found where the named plaintiffs allege they have suffered the same injury arising from the same conduct by defendant. Joint Equity Comm. Of Invest. Of Real Estate Partners, Inc. v. Coldwell Banker Real Estate Corp. (“Joint Equity”), 281 F.R.D. 422, 427 (C.D.Cal. Mar. 26, 2012). Here, the same conduct and theories are asserted by Plaintiffs on behalf of themselves and the putative class: (i) that Wal-Mart failed to pay them for compensable time spent on the Home Study portion of the Training Course, and; (ii) that Wal-Mart failed to make available to them uninterrupted rest breaks in violation of the California law.

D. Adequacy

Legal adequacy exists if (i) the named plaintiffs and their counsel have no conflicts of interest with the class, and (ii) the named plaintiffs and their counsel will vigorously prosecute the action on behalf of the class. Boyd v. Bank of America Corp., 300 F.R.D. 431, 438 (C.D.Cal. June 27, 2014).

⁷⁴ Plaintiffs do not cite to this case as legal authority, but only to demonstrate to the Court a common legal issue in this case will soon be resolved by the California Supreme Court.

1 In this case, Plaintiffs have “demonstrated a willingness and vigor to 2 prosecute the action.” In re Adobe Sys., Inc. Sec. Litig., 139 F.R.D. 150, 156
3 (N.D.Cal. 1991). Plaintiffs have been actively involved in the litigation assisting 4 counsel in responding to discovery, submitting to depositions, obtaining 5 documents, assisting counsel with class and conditional certification and have 6 shown through their declarations a keen understanding of the issues.

7 There is no doubt Plaintiffs and counsel have vigorously prosecuted the 8 action. After opposing two motions to dismiss brought by Wal-Mart, Plaintiffs 9 successfully moved for conditional certification of the FLSA class. (Docket Nos.
10 52 (Plaintiffs’ Motion), 71 (Order)). Plaintiffs and their counsel have diligently 11 propounded written discovery, taken and defended numerous depositions in 4 12 states, and combed through hundreds of thousands of pages of documents 13 produced by Wal-Mart.⁷⁵

14 Although Plaintiff Nikmanesh has alleged an individual claim for wrongful 15 termination, she has demonstrated she will pursue vigorously the interests of the 16 class and has no conflict. Courts routinely allow named plaintiffs to 17 simultaneously pursue individual and class claims. See, e.g., Saucedo v. NW 18 Mgmt. & Realty Servs., 290 F.R.D. 671, 683 (E.D. Wash. 2013); Benedict v.
19 Hewlett-Packard Co., __F.R.D.__, 2016 WL 1691893 *13 (N.D.Cal., April 8, 20 2016).

21 Plaintiffs’ counsel have extensive experience in employment law, have 22 served as class counsel in many wage and hour class actions,⁷⁶ and have been 23 appointed by this Court as Class Counsel for the Conditionally Certified FLSA 24 Class. Plaintiffs’ counsel’s only relationship with the named representatives is that 25 of attorney-client. Therefore, counsel is adequate. Pace v. PetSmart, Inc., 2014 26 WL 2511297 *8 (C.D.Cal., June 3, 2014).

V. Plaintiffs Satisfy the Rule 23(b) Requirements

A. Predominance: Common Questions Predominate Over Individual Issues

The predominance inquiry “focuses on the relationship between the common and individual issues.” Local Joint Executive Bd. of Culinary/Bartender Trust Fund v. Las Vegas Sands, Inc., 244 F.3d 1152, 1162 (9th Cir.2001). “When common questions present a significant aspect of the case and they can be resolved for all members of the class in a single adjudication, there is clear justification for handling the dispute on a representative rather than on an individual basis.” Hanlon, supra, 150 F.3d at 1022. To establish predominance of common issues, a party seeking class certification is not required to show that the legal and factual issues raised by the claims of each class member are identical. Rather, the predominance inquiry focuses on whether the proposed class is “sufficiently cohesive to warrant adjudication by representation.” Local Jt. Exec. Bd. Of Culinary/Bartender Trust Fund v. Las Vegas Sands, 244 F.3d 1152, 1162 (9th Cir.2001)(quoting Amchem, 21 U.S. at 623 ). “When common questions present a significant aspect of the case and they can be resolved for all members of the class in a single adjudication, there is clear justification for handling the dispute on a representative rather than individual basis.” Hanlon, supra 150 F.3d at 1022. Proof plaintiffs will prevail on the merits is not required as a prerequisite to class certification, only a showing that questions common to the class predominate, not that the questions will be answered in favor of plaintiffs. Amgen, Inc. v. Conn. Ret. Plans and Trust, 133 S.Ct. 1184, 1191 (2013). Although the certification analysis may require some overlap with the merits, “Rule 23 grants courts no license to engage in free-ranging merits inquiries at the certification stage.” Id. at 1195.

1 1. Plaintiffs and Training Course Class Members Are Victims of a 2 Common Practice Such That Common Issues Predominate

3 Plaintiffs allege Wal-Mart failed to pay Training Course Class Members 4 minimum wage and overtime compensation for time spent on the Home Study 5 portion of the Training Course.⁷⁷ Whether or not this time is “compensable” is an 6 issue common to all Training Course Class Members. Under federal law, time 7 spent attending employer-sponsored training programs are generally considered 8 compensable. Seever v. Carrols Corp., 528 F.Supp.2d 159, 167 (W.D.N.Y.2007), 9 citing Chao v. Tradesmen Int’l, Inc., 310 F.3d 904, 907 (6th Cir.2002). California 10 utilizes the standards announced by the U.S. Department of Labor contained in 29 11 C.F.R. §§785.27-785.31 with regard to training programs for employees.⁷⁸

12 Here, it is undisputed Plaintiffs and Training Course Class Members 13 received no compensation for time spent on the Home Study portion of the 14 Training Course.⁷⁹ It is undisputed that the Home Study portion of the Training 15 Course was required to successfully complete the Training Course.⁸⁰ 16 Notwithstanding the general rule establishing such time is compensable, Wal-Mart 17 will likely rely on an exception to the payment of time spent in training courses set 18 forth in 29 C.F.R. §785.27.⁸¹

19 29 C.F.R. §785.27 provides:

20 “Attendance at lectures, meetings, training programs and similar activities 21 need not be counted as working time if the following four criteria are met:

 27 adoption of the federal standard is consistent with the practice of California courts to look to federal law for 28 guidance in interpreting California law].

1 (a) Attendance is outside of the employee's regular working hours;
 2 (b) Attendance is in fact voluntary;
 3 (c) The course, lecture, or meeting is not directly related to the 4 employee's job; and 5 (d) The employee does not perform any productive work during 6 such attendance." [emphasis added] 29 C.F.R. §785.27 provides an exception to the 7 employer's obligation to compensate employees for time spent in training under 8 very limited circumstances. If any one of the four criteria set forth in 29 CFR 9 §785.27 is not met, the employer must pay for training time. Haszard v. Amer.
 10 Med. Response Northwest, Inc., 247 F.Supp.2d 1151, 1160 (D.Ore. 2001).

11 a. The Training Course Was Not Voluntary:

12 Participation in training is not voluntary and thereby required by the 13 employer "...if the employee is given to understand or led to believe that his 14 present working conditions or the continuance of his employment would be 15 adversely affected by nonattendance." Wilson v. Cty of Santa Clara, 68 16 Cal.App.3d 78, 83 (1977), citing 29 CFR §785.28; see also Haszard, supra at 17 1153; Seeever, supra at 167.

18 As set forth in Section II above, Wal-Mart's actions in rolling out the 19 immunization certification program made clear to Plaintiffs and Training Course 20 Class Members that completion of the Training Course was not "voluntary".

21 b. The Training Course Is Directly Related to The Pharmacists' Job:

22 Whether or not ultimately it is found that the Training Course is "directly 23 related" to the Plaintiffs' and Training Course Class Members' job is a merits 24 question for the finder of fact. Wicke v. L&C Insulation, Inc., 2014 WL 2957434 *
 25 9 (W.D.Wis.2014); Allen v. City of Texas City, 2012 WL 1316568 * 4 26 (S.D.Tex.2012). If the course relates to the current job duties or expectations and 27 is not designed to prepare the employee for advancement or promotion, it is 28 "directly related" to the employee's job. Seeever, supra at 1552.

In this case, it is clear that administering immunizations is directly related to the Pharmacists' job. (See discussion at II.B. infra.) Also, this Court has already held in granting conditional certification of the FLSA Class that administering immunizations is directly related to the Pharmacists' job. (Doc. 71, p. 6.) The resolution of the common question of law and fact as to whether the time Plaintiffs and putative class members spent on Home Study portion of the Training Course is compensable (including whether the exception to 29 C.F.R. §785.27 applies) is a common issue that can be resolved as to Plaintiffs and all putative class members.

2. Wal-Mart's Common Policies and Practices Discouraged and/or Prevented Plaintiffs and Rest Break Class Members from Taking Uninterrupted Rest Breaks

The common questions applicable to the Rest Break Class are: (1) Did Wal-Mart's policies as set forth above, that were inconsistent with its written rest break policy, prevent and/or discourage Pharmacists from taking rest breaks; (2) did Pharmacists actually miss rest breaks; and (3) did Wal-Mart pay an extra hour of pay to Rest Break Class Members who were unable to take rest breaks.

Employees must receive a minimum of one ten-minute rest break for each four-hour work period, or major fraction thereof. Industrial Welfare Commission Wage Order 4-2001 at par. 11-12. "Every employer shall authorize and permit all employees to take rest breaks, which insofar as practicable shall be in the middle of each work period..." (Cal. Code Regs. Section 11040, subd. 12(A).) There is no "on duty" exception for mandatory ten-minute rest breaks. Further, an employer may not count cumulative "down time" as bonafide rest breaks. Bufile v Dollar Financial, 162 Cal.App.4th 1193, 1198.

An employer satisfies its rest break obligation if it relieves its employees of all duty, relinquishes control over their activities and does not impede or discourage them from taking breaks. Brinker v. The Superior Court of San Diego County (2008) 53 Cal 4th 1004; See also Campbell v. Vitran Exp., Inc., 2015 WL 7176110 *2, 9 (C.D.Cal., Nov. 12, 2015)(Slip Copy) certifying rest break class

1 based on “unofficial” policy class members were discouraged from taking rest 2 breaks based on declarations of 13 class members]. This “policy-to-violate-the-3 policy” theory is one recognized as being appropriate for certification by the Ninth 4 Circuit. Jimenez v. Allstate Ins. Co., 765 F.3d 1161, 1166 (9th Cir.2014), cert.
 5 denied, 135 S.Ct. 2835 (2015).

6 Plaintiffs have established above that several Wal-Mart policies placed on 7 Pharmacist employees, including but not limited to, that the Pharmacist could not 8 leave the Pharmacy unattended without shutting it down, that Pharmacists were 9 required to monitor the Pharmacy while inside the Pharmacy, at all times the 10 Pharmacy was open to prevent drug theft and control access, and the evaluation of 11 Pharmacists’ job performance based on customer service surveys and ability to fill 12 prescriptions within 20 minutes, all resulted in common practices that discouraged 13 and/or prevented Rest Break Class Members from taking rest breaks.

14 B. Superiority

15 In determining if a class action is superior, the Court considers: (1) class 16 members’ interest in individually controlling the litigation, (2) the extent of any 17 litigation involving class members and the current controversy, (3) the effect of 18 litigating all the claims in this forum; and (4) the difficulty managing the case as a 19 class action. Joint Equity, supra 281 F.R.D. at 436, citing Fed.R.Civ.P. 23(b)(3).

20 Here, Plaintiffs are informed and believe that no other litigation has been 21 commenced by a class member against Wal-Mart asserting the same violations 22 during the relevant time period.⁸² Further indication that Class Members have no 23 inclination or desire to pursue these claims individually is based on the fact that 24 Plaintiffs have secured declarations from 66 class members (including plaintiffs) 25 representing at least 88 locations or approximately 28% of all Wal-Mart California 26 locations.⁸³ In addition, approximately 416 individuals filed Consents to Join the

1 FLSA collective action.⁸⁴

2 Pursuit of these claims in this forum is appropriate because the Rule 23 class 3 involves Pharmacists who worked for Wal-Mart in California, California labor 4 laws are at issue and representative plaintiffs Nikmanesh and Nguyen worked for 5 Wal-Mart in several locations in Orange County, California.⁸⁵

6 Finally, the case is manageable as common questions relating to Wal-Mart's 7 competing policies that contradict its rest break policy will establish liability as to 8 all class members. Campbell, supra at *10. [Certifying rest break class based on 9 "unofficial" policy class members were discouraged from taking rest breaks].

10 1. Damages Can Be Proven on a Class-Wide Basis

11 Although not required to submit proof of a class-wide damage methodology 12 at the certification stage, nonetheless Plaintiffs have submitted the Declaration of 13 Malcolm S. Cohen, Ph.D. that sets forth a plan to obtain information from class 14 members for presentation on damages.⁸⁶ Hatamian v. Advanced Micro Dev., Inc., 15 2016 WL 1042502 *8 (N.D.Cal., Mar. 16, 2016) (Slip Copy) [rejecting defendant's 16 argument that pursuant to Comcast Corp. v. Behrend, 133 S.Ct. 1426 (2013) 17 plaintiffs were required to prove a class-wide damage methodology to demonstrate 18 predominance). For the most part, Wal-Mart's own documents can be used to 19 identify which Pharmacists attended the Training Course during the Class Period⁸⁷, 20 what hours each Training Class Member worked during the time they completed 21 the Home Study portion of the Training Class, when a Pharmacist was the sole 22 Pharmacist scheduled to work, alarm records indicating whether the pharmacy was 23 closed to take a rest break and payroll records to extract the rates of pay for 24 purposes of calculating damages. (Cohen Dec., ¶19). Surveys can then be used to 26 ⁸⁴ Docket Nos. 74-78, 80-82. It should be noted that Plaintiffs have agreed to dismiss 162 opt-ins as they are not 27 eligible FLSA Class Members either because they did not work overtime in the week they took the Home Study 28 portion of the Training Course, or they did not take the Training Course during their employment with Wal-Mart during the relevant time period or for other reasons which makes the ineligible.

gather information directly from Class Members for both classes. With respect to the Training Course Class a survey can be conducted to determine the time each Training Course Class Member spent on the Home Study portion of the Training Class. (Cohen Dec., ¶12) That information can then be compared with each Training Class Members' scheduled work hours and pay records to determine whether overtime and/or minimum wage pay is due. (Cohen Dec., ¶¶9, 12) Payroll records can then be used to determine the applicable rates of pay. (Cohen Dec., ¶9.)

For the Rest Break Class, a survey can be used to determine the number of rest breaks missed per week and the reasons they were missed. (Cohen Dec., ¶11). This information can then be compared with alarm records and work schedules to determine whether each Rest Break Class Member closed the pharmacy for a rest break and with pay records to determine whether the Class Member was provided with premium pay. (Cohen Dec., ¶¶9, 11). Dr. Cohen sets forth the methodology for how the survey will be administered, how the survey population is determined and how the results will be analyzed. (Cohen Dec., ¶¶13-26.) Dr. Cohen projects a confidence level of 95% and a margin of error of less than 10%. (Cohen Dec., ¶¶17-20.)

VI. Conclusion

Plaintiffs satisfy Rule 23's requirements. Plaintiffs respectfully request the Court enter the Proposed Order submitted concurrently herewith.
